Some people have an experience like this: they wake up during their sleep but can't move at all for a few minutes. Doctors call this sleep paralysis. But what is sleep paralysis and why do people have it? Read on and learn more about it.

When does it happen?

Sleep paralysis usually happens when you are waking up. However, it can happen when you are falling asleep, too.

What may you experience?

1. You can move your eyes, but can't move your body.
2. You may see or hear someone near you.

Why does it happen?

1. You are not getting enough sleep.
2. You have bad sleeping habits.
3. You have a family history of sleep paralysis.
4. You sleep on your back.

How can you prevent it?

1. Sleep six to eight hours a day.
2. Get up and go to bed at the same time every day.
3. Exercise often.
4. Eat healthy food.
